Biography

I took my university degree and a Master degree in International Finance at the University of Pavia. During the Ph.D. in management and business economics (University of Pavia) I carried out research that culminated in a dissertation entitled "Social cooperation in Italy: strategies and development's perspectives". In 2001, I received the Diploma di formazione superiore at the multidisciplinary Advanced School of Integrated Learning (SAFI, University of Pavia) for Ph.D. students. In the years 2001-2004 I was a Post-Doc Research Fellow in Business Administration at the University of Pavia, with a research project entitled "The reform of the social services in Italy".

Qualifications and awards

Graduated University of Pavia (1996)
Masters degree in International Finance, University of Pavia (1999)
Diploma di formazione superiore at the multidisciplinary Advanced School of Integrated Learning (SAFI) University of Pavia, 2001
Ph.D. in Management and Business Economics, University of Pavia (2002)
Post-doc Research Fellow in Business Administration, University of Pavia (2001-2004)

Research interests

My research interests are focused on the management field. In particular, I study management of service firms, with particular attention to commercial firms. Moreover, I am interested in analysing the relationship between industrial and commercial firms, underlining the more recent evolutionary dynamics. I am also interested in health care economics and hospital management.
