Research interests

In her research activity, she is interested in the transition from ‘traditional’ to ‘modern’ penal law and focuses on peculiar aspects of it.

The main subject of research is represented by the role of the idea of “risk” in criminal law. Legal developments are studied in relation with social evolution (therefore the attention paid to the “risk society” topic). With specific regard to the juridical field, she looks at the concept of “risk” as an element both of the
